

FENDER® NECK INSTALLATION GUIDE

Read Me First!

Congratulations on your purchase of a genuine Fender part, and thank you.

This is a real Fender body/neck—built to Fender specifications and designed to work with other genuine Fender parts. Please note that using this body/neck with a part not made by Fender is not recommended and that Fender cannot guarantee compatibility.

Hardware is not included and must be purchased separately. Make sure to use genuine Fender hardware, available from authorized Fender dealers.

Please use proper care when handling parts. Before attempting to attach a neck to a body, make sure that both the body's neck pocket and the area of the back of the neck that will sit in the neck pocket are free of anything that will prevent the neck from seating properly in the neck pocket (some cleaning may be required for optimal fit). Test-fitting the neck into neck pocket is highly recommended to ensure that the neck can be properly seated without being forced (the neck should never be forced into the neck pocket). After complete neck/body assembly, pilot holes must be drilled for pickguard installation. Final truss rod and nut adjustments are also necessary.

Videos that help with the neck/body installation process are available online at www.fender.com; these address common issues associated with neck/body installation.
